YOUR MISSIONARIES TO PAPUA NEW GUINEA

We had a survival trip to end our final semester.

WHAT'S NEW...

- ❖ We are FINISHED with our training and are now STARTING deputation!
- ❖ We will be traveling quite a bit; we would love to meet up with you, please contact us! We are not sure yet when we will be where, but let's try to make something work!
- ❖ We are excited to be home and see friends and family, but are ready to go to the field. There are many tribes asking for missionaries to come to them!
- ❖ We need your help! We would love to speak with any church(es), small group(s), or individuals you may know that are interested in missions.

We want to first say THANK-YOU!

First and foremost we want to thank God for His constant provision and care for us, always protecting us and growing us through circumstances for His honor and glory. Secondly, we want to thank you. You have blessed us and motivated us greatly through your support (by encouragement/prayer/offerings). Thank you for allowing Christ to work in you because in that; He has blessed us greatly and carried us through this journey. This is a long endeavor, which the flesh and the devil will not want us to complete; however, you are helping “fill up what is lacking in us” (1 Cor. 12). We love and appreciate all that you have done for us. Thank you for “having our back”— pushing us to the next step of church planting in PNG.

Started with a tornado, ended with a tornado.

Our first night in Missouri we had two tornadoes less than six miles away from us. Since Seth just drove fifty-five hours straight he managed to sleep right through the wind and sirens. During the last two weeks of our training we had to pack, clean, fulfill church and school responsibilities, and teach at our ministries. Seth gave a charge at church and did a baccalaureate speech, along with many other things. All of this felt like a tornado or two, but that part of our journey is over. Now we must “gear up” for the next phase (which is deputation) in order to get overseas and “answer the call” of many tribes asking for a missionary(ies); to those who have never heard of the Creator-God!

- Romans 15:20

PRAYER: Please pray with us that we can get a good support team (and quickly) so that we can get overseas and bring Light to a dark world, giving people a hope that they have never had before. Continue to pray for us that we grow closer together, while always seeking God to grow us more and more. Also, pray that our car will last until we leave.
